Understanding Essential Oils in Perfumes

Every perfume begins with raw aromatic materials. At the core of natural perfumery are Essential Oils, concentrated plant extracts that capture the pure scent of flowers, woods, spices, and herbs. They are obtained through distillation, cold pressing, or other natural extraction methods.

Role of Essential Oils in Perfumery

- Top Notes – Citrus Essential Oils like bergamot, lemon, and orange create fresh, uplifting first impressions.
- Heart Notes – Floral oils such as rose, jasmine, and ylang-ylang form the soul of the fragrance.
- Base Notes – Deep and grounding oils like sandalwood, patchouli, and vetiver give perfumes longevity and depth.

Without Essential Oils, perfumes would lack richness, natural elegance, and the ability to evolve beautifully on the skin.
